

Sub-Assembly Manifold for Medical Applications

In order to blend the proper amount of gases to obtain a desired level of anesthesia, these units utilize the capabilities of Clippard control and electronic valves series. These valves allow you to deliver an accurate and continuous supply of gases with a precise concentration to the patient at a safe pressure and flow.